

2025 is ending... and the best is yet to come!

It's been an intense year at RimaOne. Sometimes challenging, always full of learning and growth. We improved our support, strengthened our team, and evolved our product to bring you more value every day.

But none of this would have been possible without you. Your feedback, your trust, and the projects you share with us inspire everything we do. Together, we've reached an important milestone, and we can't wait to continue this journey with you in 2026.

Our services will be closed from December 25 to January 5. Thank you for this year, and we wish you wonderful holidays.

Transform Your Contribution Uploads with Mass DOI Import!

Good news! Academ now offers a highly anticipated new feature: bulk importing contributions using their DOI identifiers. A major time-saver for your teams.

How to Use It?

You can now copy and paste one or several DOIs into a list to start the import. Academ automatically retrieves the associated data from CrossRef and integrates it directly into your database. You still have the option to review, complete, or adjust the information before validation.

This feature is available:

- From the faculty profile (for admins and faculty), to import one or multiple contributions linked to an internal author.
- From the main import menu (for admins), to add contributions from several authors in a single operation.

Available now in version 6.1

If you're interested in this improvement, reach out to our Customer Success team directly through your Redmine space.

We'll be happy to deploy it quickly in your environments.

Automate Data Import and Updates with Our API

Looking to save time and streamline your data flows? Academ provides both IN and OUT APIs to automate the transfer of information related to your faculty members and their publications.

To help you make the most of it, our Customer Success team will be hosting a webinar in February.

You'll discover the key benefits of the API and how it works in practice. The registration date will be shared with you at the beginning of the year.

Interested? Already have questions?

Send us your questions by the end of January at

We'll prepare a webinar that truly meets your needs.

Qualification Calculations: A New Evolution

Your feedback has been heard. We're currently enhancing the way faculty qualification calculations work to make your workflow faster, smarter, and more accurate.

Until now

Academ calculated an indicative qualification level based on your qualification rules and faculty profile data.

You then had to manually enter the final qualification into your database.

What's changing?

Soon, you'll be able to apply Academ's calculated qualification directly in your database with just one click. You will remain free to accept or reject the proposed qualification and can recalculate it at any time.

Time to review your Qualification Rules?

To fully benefit from this new feature when it becomes available, it may be the perfect time to install or update your qualification rules in Academ.

Simply create a Tasks ticket in your Redmine space.

- If you haven't installed your rules yet, the installation is included in your initial setup.
- If you want to update existing rules, describe your project to us. We will assess the workload and guide you to implement the updates in the best possible way.

Elevate Your Faculty Evaluations

A new feature is coming to your Faculty Management module to add more meaning to annual reviews.

Soon, faculty members will be able to add their own comments before submitting their report, providing a richer and more qualitative view of their activities.

The academic department can then review, validate, or enhance these inputs to prepare for annual evaluations.

This feature is currently in internal testing.
